Speaking of the affiliation, Graham Copland, Executive Director at John Foord, said: “We have worked with a number of the Brokerslink partners across the world and so becoming an affiliate seemed a natural progression to allow us to work closer with the Brokerslink network worldwide. John Foord look forward to collaborating with Brokerslink partners to advise clients on appropriate reinstatement costs.

We believe that our investment in data analytics and modelling will be of particular interest to Brokerslink clients as businesses seek more analysis of their insurance risks and ways to mitigate losses.”

About Brokerslink AG

Brokerslink AG is a wholly independent business with a unique structure and ownership. Brokerslink combines a global broking company with a worldwide broking network. It provides its partners (shareholders in the company) and affiliates in over 110 countries with professional, innovative risk management and insurance expertise, international market connections, and world-class consulting services.

Brokerslink and its shareholders own and manage a network of independent brokers and risk consultancies comprising about 18,000 professionals. Incorporated in Switzerland, cross-shareholdings between Brokerslink and its partners make its combined value much greater than a loose association of independent firms. Shared equity among and between Brokerslink partners creates a unified purpose and vision which does not compromise the independence or local focus of each partner firm. Brokerslink currently has 55 independent shareholders from 40 countries.

A significant portion of Brokerslink's clients are multinational or complex organisations seeking support in risk assessment, risk management, and the design and placement of cost-effective insurance solutions. Our unique offer is founded on Brokerslink's comprehensive multi-local experience and leading-edge risk services, and our ability to deliver them anywhere in the world.
